Kesht-o-Sanat Maryan (Chashni)

Khoramshahr Liquid Sugar Company was established in 1384 in order to produce liquid sugar from date syrup in Khoramshahr. To help the company grow, its name changed to Kesht-o-Sanat Maryan (Chashni) and was launched on a seven-hectare plot of land in 1356 in Alborz province.

Chashni managed to attract its customers' attention by providing them with high quality products. Therefore, the company was able to have a large market share. Chashni produces different types of compote, canned food, tomato paste, juice, salty mixed vegetables, jam, pickle, salty olive, lemon juice, verjuice and ketchup.

By employing the latest technology, careful selection of raw materials, experienced and qualified personnel, the management has taken considerable steps to enhance quality and has always been able to gain customer satisfaction.

Exportation has been one of our fundamental goals to help the country to expand export. Our export market consists of the Middle East, Europe, The US and Australia.

Quality Policy

Chashni with vast experience of research in production of compote, canned food, jam, pickled vegetables, non-carbonated drinks, is the leading brand in the food industry of Iran. In order to raise customer satisfaction, the company has directed its focus toward selection of the best raw material.

Employing experienced professionals and qualified experts and application of ISO 9001:2008, Chashni has always promoted ongoing development. The management hopes to achieve the following goals by calling for the personnel's effective cooperation:

- Following all the hygiene requirements to raise the quality of products in production process, packaging, storage and supply.
- Employing qualified and dedicated human resource and modern equipment.
- Honest interaction with the customers and beneficiaries.
- Systematic staff training to spread knowledge and promote rational thoughts and behaviors.
- Complying with all the safety and occupational hygiene requirements to control risks and guarantee successful operation in production process.
- The practical fulfillment of all environmental requirements to eliminate pollution in the origin.
- To efficiently allocate financial and fundamental resources to optimize production.

Top management has obliged the personnel to stick to all the above-mentioned goals. Moreover, the personnel's cooperation and dedication are considered to be the key factors of continued quality development in the organization and this policy will be modified by the management if needed.
